Emergency Contraception

There are two main types of emergency contraception:

1. Copper Coils (IUDs) can be used up to 120 hours after unprotected sex* or later depending on the timing in the menstrual cycle. They are the most effective method of emergency contraception and can also provide on-going contraception.
They are available from Sexual Health D&G 0345 702 3687.
Some of the GP practices that provide coils offer copper coils as emergency contraception, but not all.
2. Emergency Contraceptive Pills, which should be taken in the first 120hours after unprotected sex*.
They are available from all pharmacies, Sexual Health D&G, GPs, Out of Hours and Emergency Depts.

* e.g. burst condom; forgotten pill; no contraception
